

Humans, Transhumans, Transformed Humans and the Indigenous.

Yesterday (26-04-2013) on the way to my cousins home in Port Colborne I made a wrong turn in Fort Erie on the highway and found myself on a road that led inescapably to the US border. I did not want to cross this border as I knew I was red flagged as I had not fully resolved my issues with the US Homeland Security / Federal Government. I did not want to enter the US. I explained this fact to the officer at the entry point expecting him to direct me to the area where I could turn around and leave. (as I had done in the past)

He would not allow me to do so. He took my car keys and sent me to interrogation - where the red flags came up (Section 212 (a)(7)(A)(i)(I) Immigration and Naturalization Act - INA. I had been charged with trying to enter the United States as an alien immigrant because they did not accept my airplane ticket to Mexico as sufficient proof that I was planning to leave the US. I was therefore red flagged - also at the time I was carrying a 1"x1" cellophane bag with a picture of a marijuana leaf on it. My file reads as I am told by the Director of Homeland Security John P. Wagner Executive Director - I was carrying a "bag of Marijuana" It has been two years and over $1000 in direct costs since I have had this problem created by Homeland Security.

Currently, I am being asked to provide a resume indicating my employment and educational history, a Certified RCMP criminal record Report and Letters of reference from a professional (not related) such as a doctor, lawyer, bank manager which describes my relationship with the person, how long they have known me, their opinion with regard to my having a problem with alcohol /drug abuse and their knowledge of me having a history of harmful or violent behavior to myself, others, or property. Once they have this information they will give me a in person assessment at $500 per hour. Logic is dead.

My accident last evening was a great learning experience. I can plead being stupid for being caught on a road with no exit. This became an adventure to visit my cousin keeping him waiting for me to bring his supper from his favorite restaurant in Toronto. Suffice it to say I was not clear on the route to Port Colbourne and took a wrong left turn. - ending up at the US Border. I told the officer of my mistake and that I had no intention of entering the US and that he could just show me how to exit. He refused and put me into interrogation room for 2 1/2 hours and a very stress full situation. Logic is Dead.

As I stood waiting in the waiting room I learned a great deal. I explained to the officer I was claiming my rights under UNDRIP (United Nations Declaration of Human Rights of Indigenous Peoples) and that I was a message carrier under the protection of a number of traditional elders - I was wearing many totems representing these elders from Columbia, Peru, Mexico, Canada, and even Maya elders. He asked if I had any written documents from them - I said no but I can access some in my computer indicating that I am under the protection of at least four on paper.

All this was ignored, and upon inquiring of their knowledge of the relevance of UNDRIP - two officers admitted to have never heard of it - another said (I do not care to know about it) and a fourth took the time to look it up and he came back to me and said they were well within their rights in detaining me. I asked him about my rights - and his response was that he walked away. Minutes later the head of the Port authority came over and threatened me physically - to hand cuff me and put me in jail. This man was physically very threatening with flaming tattoos on both arms and a shaven head. After our conversation he went on with his responsibilities and then proceeded to leave for the day. He stared at me dead pan when he left his duty post, and I am reasonably certain he left instructions to delay me as long as possible. I said clearly I wanted to leave the country and that I had no intention or desire of entering the United States..

I did note on the wall in their detention room a document that explains the purpose and authority of the Border Guards - and nowhere does it say that they have either the authority or purpose to detain someone who does not want to enter their country. I find this most strange and I am reporting it to the head of homeland security who has given me a letter previously saying that I am not prevented from entering the United States as long as my itinerary is clear. I did not present this letter as it is in their files and I was not asked to present any information as they put me through the 2 1/2 hour wait. This letter was not honored the very last time (in November last year) when I presented it when I was forced to abort a $300 flight (again) - and I had to fly to Montreal to fly direct to Mexico City at a $600 additional cost.

Now this whole experience is interesting to me because I am currently writing an article entitled the Death of Logic. This is a perfect example of the death of logic.

The CRAFT eZine that I am writing this for is asking me to write on the theme of Transhumanism. This response and letter is going to from the substance of said article.

There are three forms of humans (1) the original human being,(2) the trans-human and (3) trans-formed human. The original humans are in all forms and shapes - some yellow, some black, some brown, some white, and even some red. These formed over millenniums and depending upon your spiritual belief most traditions evolved into a variety of cultures and belief systems. Many theories exist as to how each of the colors evolved according to the part of the world that they evolved in. It is generally accepted that we are all related by genetics in some manner with a very slight distinction being noted as we have now come to understand genetic codes - the distinctions between the colors is rather insignificant in terms of general DNA. We have had a number of distinctions according to how our cultures evolved.

I postulate that with the passage of time we became rather distinct according to the cultures we formed. These cultures all had perceptions of time and time was our measuring stick for which we established our rules of growth, ceremony, ritual and understandings and structured as our calendars. . The Maya for example developed their own calendar systems that has proved much more accurate than most of the other calendars around the world - and there are at least 5 such calendars with more being shared all the time. Our connection to our planet is explained in our calendars and rituals. The Hebrews have their own calendar and hold to it for over 5773 years ( as of 2013).

What we are noting is that the emerging Trans-human research tends to be concentrated in, and has evolved from being exposed to, the Western Julian Calendar where the natural cycles of the world were disjointed from the human being. Few seem to notice the contradiction in the root of the ninth month being September (root 7), the Tenth month being October (root 8), the Eleventh Month being November (root 9) and the Twelfth being December (root 10).

Thus Transhumans will not have the connection with the embodied natural world and these persons live their lives in a world that is best described as a 5 sense world with an illusory sixth sense (intuition). Trans-humans have all accepted an entropic logic base that is dead today. We have failed to notice that the breaking down of the Nation State Systems (as evidenced above through the actions of Border Guards), and a dysfunctional United Nations) and their health systems, their money systems, their military systems, their human care systems and their thinking/schooling systems are all inter related and broken - logic is dead.. They may comment that everything is inter-connected - but as yet they have no mechanism to demonstrate that such is the case from a systems perspective. And they fail to acknowledge the very clear dysfunctional behaviors that are coming to the surface at this very time on our planet when the opposite is desperately needed.

Trans-humans research by my definition may produce dysfunctional human beings that fail, and even are unable to, notice the mega crisis of multiple crises (environmental, military, Nation State, poverty, over population, death of the indigenous etc.) on our planet. This may not be the common definition of the term - it is my definition of Trans-human. We are all Trans-human waiting to learn how to Transform ourselves.

I postulate that the Trans-human can and will go through a shift in the future to become a Trans-formed-human. This transformed human will have the following characteristics. Logic will not be dead - the logic base will be based on a 9 dimensional reality that the Maya identify in their calendar systems - of course I don't know a lot about their calendars however I see great logic in the ones I have explored. As I understand them, the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual aspects of the human condition are all explained within their calendars. I see similarities between their thinking and measuring instruments as exist in Kabala teachings although I would be hard pressed to be more specific.

What I have noticed is that the Maya have included four specific aspects of humanness into their patterning. Temperature, balance, time and space all have individual preceptors that are included in their reality. This clearly distinguishes their calendars from Julian based ones as we use in the West today. Those of us that choose to ignore those preceptors are not experiencing life as fully as we might. Add to that our perceptions of knowledge and memory then we are prepared to explore what the Maya call intuition.

Further to these commonly held notions we will also filter our information through two additional thought processes. One being - the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual aspects, and the second involving Economics, Ethics Energy and Health. These qualities organized in the form of a Medicine Wheel that is represented as a fractal design that also uses the Ten Transformers ( a series of Ten Value laden questions) <http://www.homeplanet.org/homeplanet/transfrm.htm> to qualify our personal perspectives. This is common core curricula at the Homeplanet Virtual University.

We will then have the Transformed human that is enabled to enjoy and fully experience human emotions without damaging the psyche. . There are ranges of emotions that are experienced, and with the right training we can control, or at least be aware of experiencing those emotions. Each emotion can be controlled with a particular breathing technique. And the Transformed-human becomes adept at both recognizing the emotion and the process of breathing that can best relieve the stress associated with the emotion. Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP) offers another process to achieve this result and has other qualities added to their process while not having the same specific process to achieve the desired outcome.

Our fully transformed human has learned of the next stage as well - which is the ability to have a soul experience. Most, even atheists, have little trouble accepting the existence of a soul - but do have difficulty at understanding soul experience as something real connecting our physical and emotional selves to our god self, enlightened self, - or our truth - or love - sometimes expressed as the "great mystery".

The Transformed human will in my view, be more fully alive than the Trans-human. The Trans-human is more of an automaton pretending to be human while the Transformed human is the enlightened human capable of experiencing his/her god/self and offers us all hope for survival.

Here is a poem distilled from 44000 pages of information that were presented at a Conference in Chicago on the theme – Parliament of the World's Religions
